What are you going to do if you are in a burning house? How will you escape? Do you know how to save yourself? Please read the following passage.

Escaping a fire is a serious matter. Knowing what to do during a fire can save your life. It is important to know the ways you can use and show them to everyone in the family, such as stairways and fire escapes, but not lifts.

From the lower floors of the buildings, escaping through windows is possible; learn the best way of leaving by windows with the least chance of serious injury.

The second floor window is usually not very high from the ground. An average person, hanging by the finger-tips will have a drop of about six feet to the ground. It is about the height of an average man. Of course, it is safer to jump a short way than to stay in a burning building.

Windows are also useful when you are waiting for help. Be sure to keep the door closed. Or smoke and fire may be drawn into the room. Keep your head low at the window to be sure you get fresh air rather than smoke that may leaked（渗）into the room.

On a second or third floor, the best windows for escape are those that open onto a roof. From the roof a person can drop to the ground more safely. Dropping onto cement（水泥）might end in injury. Bushes（灌木丛）and grass can help to break a fall.

The next morning, Bear returned to Cricket's house. "Come out, brave Cricket," called Bear. Suddenly he felt a terrible ache on his back. He yelled, but Cricket's friend Mosquito (蚊子) continued stinging (叮) until Bear yelled, "I give up!"

Just then Cricket appeared at the door of his house. Cricket told Bear to leave and never return. Bear quickly ran away.

Secrets are everywhere in the world outdoors. Quite a lot of people are busy studying them, they are so interesting. All around us are birds, animals, trees and flowers. The facts about how they live and grow are as interesting as anything could be.

Do you know that one of the great presidents of the U.S.A . spent hours and hours studying birds? A businessman who lives near New York City became so interested in insects that he began to catch them. He now has over one thousand different kinds carefully kept in glass boxes.

Come with me, and I will help you find some of nature's secrets. Let's go quickly through the woods and fields. Here we shall find how a rabbit tells the other rabbits that there is danger. We shall follow a mother bear and her young ones as they search for food and get ready for their long winter sleep. We shall watch bees dancing in air to let the other bees know where they can find food. The first walk into outer space was taken by a Soviet astronaut(苏联宇航员). Astronaut Zhai Zhigang became the first Chinese to walk in space on September 27, 2008. It showed that it was quite safe for a man to be outside the spaceship for a certain period of time. But to walk in space, astronauts have to meet with many kinds of difficulties and dangers.

The spaceship goes round the earth at an altitude(海拔高度) of about 200 kilometers above its surface. At such altitudes there is no atmosphere which protects the life on the earth. The conditions of outer space are very harmful to man.

The boiling point of liquids(液体) goes down with pressure. But pressure outside the spaceship is nearly zero. In such conditions the decompression(减压) of the spacesuit may cause the boiling of the blood and quick death. There is radiation from space and it is harmful.

Breathing problems in space can be solved with the help of the spacesuit. Another problem is heat. Man gives off heat in the course(过程) of his activity, and the harder the labor(劳动) is, the greater the amount(总量) of heat is. In space unless special measures are taken, the heat inside the spacesuit would make the conditions difficult.

31 . Where was the first astronaut walk into outer space from? _____
A . China.
C . The U.S.A .

B . Soviet.
D . Germany.

32 . The spaceship goes round the earth at an altitude of about _____ above its surface.
A . 200 meters
C . 2000meters

B . 200 kilometers
D . 2000 kilometers

33 . What is/are harmful to man in outer space? _____.
A . Breathing problems

B . Radiation

- C . Pressure
D . All of the above
- 34 . What is the best topic of this passage? _____
A . The astronaut.
B . Walking into outer space.
C . Pressure and boiling point.
D . Problems in space.
- 35 . Which one is NOT true? _____
A . Pressure outside the spaceship is nearly zero.
B . Astronaut Yang Liwei became the first Chinese to walk in space.
C . Breathing problems in space can be solved with the help of the spacesuit.
D . It's hard to walk in space.

On a hot African morning, Leila was lying on her stomach and an elephant was walking towards her. Leila waited. Then she pushed the button on her camera. “And I got my best photo of an elephant ever, by lying under my car,” Leila explained. “I wanted to get close to the elephants, but of course this was dangerous; they had their babies with them. So every morning I used to park my car in the open near the path (小道). They used to take the same path every morning when they left the water hole. After a week, they were used to seeing my car. So the next morning, I lay under it and got my photo!”

Many of the best wildlife photos come from good planning. In Africa, photographers set up their hides (隐匿处) near water holes. They also set up hides near forest paths, as animals use the same paths every night. For bird-watching (在大自然中观察研究野鸟), many lakes have hides. Inside the hides, bird-watchers can watch all day in the shade (荫处) out of the wind and rain.

Good wildlife photos are needed for books, postcards, magazines and newspapers. But a success rate of 1 in 20 is good.

- 36 . Why did Leila lie under her car on the stomach? _____
A . Because she wanted to sleep.
B . Because she wanted to take photos but was afraid of the animals.
C . Because it's easy to see the elephants.
D . Because it's very comfortable.
- 37 . How can photographers take good photos? _____

A . All animals go to water holes at night.

- B . Lakes are good places for bird-watching.

We always celebrated Dad's birthday on Thanksgiving Day, even after he entered a nursing home. When we knew it might be his last birthday, the whole family decided to get together for a huge birthday celebration at the nursing home.

Dad was a good storyteller and we were always his listeners. During a quiet moment, I announced it was now Dad's turn to listen to stories for a change. I wanted everyone to tell Dad what we loved about him. The room became quiet. Then one after another, people told stories from their hearts, while Dad listened with tears in eyes. Everyone seemed to have more than one story. Even the little grandchildren couldn't wait to tell Dad why they loved him. For a man who had been kind to so many hundreds of people in his life, here was our chance to tell him how much we love him. A few months later, at Dad's memorial service, we more fully realized what we had given to Dad that night. Those are the stories people normally tell at a funeral after a loved one is no longer alive to hear the words. They tell stories, full of tears. But we had given those memories to Dad in his life, and we had told them through laughter, together with hugs and joy. He had them to hold and enjoyed them from time to time in his mind during his last days and months.

Words do matter, and they are enough. We just need to say them or to speak them publicly the ones we love. That's the ways to give back love and that's our chance to celebrate a person in his or her life.

The waterbuck is a kind of kind animals. All male waterbucks have horns, which may be big or small. Waterbucks use their horns when fighting and defending themselves.

Zebras have strong bodies and long, straight legs that are good for running. Zebras help one another to look and listen for danger. If one zebra sees a lion, it makes a loud noise to warn the others. A zebra can run faster than a lion unless it is caught by surprise. No two zebras have exactly the same stripes(条纹).

Cheetahs can run as fast as seventy-five miles an hour. Strong claws(爪子)on the cheetah's feet help it to hold the ground when it is running fast. Powerful back legs help it jump forward.

A meerkat makes its home in an underground hole. When a group of meerkats goes out for food, one of them acts as a sentry and looks out for larger animals. If it notices danger, it calls out a warning, and all the meerkats run back to the hole.

My problems started after I went to a boarding school. I was only 14, and at first I missed my family a lot. I often called them and cried on the phone. But after two weeks, I found I enjoyed being with my classmates at school.

I had many friends who were boys. I thought of them as my best friends - but only friends. I never guessed my friendships with boys would become a problem.

Then, three months later, my friends told me that some teachers and girls said I was hanging out with boys all day long in order to get attention from them. Seven months after that, the head teacher Mr. Wang asked the class to choose some students to join the Student Union. I thought I could win for I was doing well in school. I'd already won prizes for the best math and English exams. A week later, the list came out and it didn't include me. I was sad.

Mr.Wang came to me and said, "Don't be sad. I know you're excellent! Maybe you're a little distance from the girls in our class. They don't know much about you, so some of them didn't choose you. It doesn't matter. Do your best to get along well with everyone and I think you'll make it next time."

Mary is a lovely, quiet girl. When she was a little girl, she had no secrets from her mother, who was very pleased with her. But since last year she has become a little mysterious and not so open as before. She wants heart-to-heart talks between mother and daughter. But they never happen. And a gulf opens between them.

Her mother wonders if she falls in love. It's too early for a girl for her age. After all, she is reaching the “dangerous stage”. These thoughts have caused trouble in the mother's mind.

One weekend her daughter came to tell mother that she was going to the cinema with her classmates and would return late. This was the first time her mother agreed, and she began to worry because her daughter had never been away at night before. The mother waited until nine and couldn't fall asleep. Then she decided to go out to meet her daughter. Just at that moment, she heard the noise of a car and hurried to the window—there was her daughter, waving good-bye to a boy. Her heart missed a beat. When the daughter came in, the mother was watching TV, pretending nothing happened. “Mum, I'm back.” “year, Sorry to be late.”

Every day when I enter the classroom, I will take a look at the wall beside my seat. You will find nothing special about this old wall if you just look at it. But for the students in my class, it is a special wall. Take a good look at it, and you will get to know the real feelings and thoughts of us, the 9th graders.

In the middle of the wall, there is a big “VICTORY”. It was written in pencil. I guess it must have been written by someone who got a good mark in an exam.

A little higher above the formulas, there is a poem. It only has two sentences. It reads: All those sweet memories have disappeared. Like tears dropping in the heavy rain.

Oh! It must have been written at the end of the last semester in middle school. Classmates had to leave school and good friends had to part. What a sad poem!

If you “explore” the wall more carefully, you will find many other interesting things, like a crying face, or a happy face, and other patterns(图案). There are still some patterns and letters that I can't understand, but they all show the feeling of the students who drew them.

For years, the wall has witnessed(目睹) all the things that have happened in the classroom. I don't know how it will be next year, two years from now, or even ten years from now. But I hope more smiling faces will be drawn on it.

- 40 . What's the title of the passage? _____
 A . The Pictures of the Wall.

Everybody knows that words can carry messages. People communicate with words, Books ,magazines. Tv and radio and films all help what is going on in the world and what people are thinking about.

Do you think you can communicate without words ? A smile on your face show you are happy or friendly. Tears in your eyes tell others that you are sad. When you put up your hand in class, the teacher knows that you want to say something or ask a question. You shake your head, and people know you are saying “No”. You nod and people know you are saying “yes”.

Other things can also carry messages. For examples, a sign at the bus stop helps you to know which bus to take. A sign on the wall of your school helps you to find the library. Signs on doors tell you where to go in or out. Have you ever noticed that there are a lot of signs around you and you receive messages from them all the time?
